Seen & Heard

Around MURRAY

Our friend James B. Curd out on North 16th street, writes the following: "I see they are giving money away here in town. I remember when a dollar was worth 100 cents. Honorable William J. Bryan said bring on the good old dollar and let it not be sold. Turn it into silver as our fathers did of old. I don't see one silver dollar printed under George Washington's picture. Cheap money."

You are right Mr. Curd. Dollar bills used to have Silver Certificate printed on them and they were good for a dollar's worth of silver. The ones being made now have Federal Reserve Note printed on them. We don't know what that means, but we do know that it is not backed by anything.

But still, don't you wish you had a million of them.

Medicare has been billed as great step forward with the purpose of giving the aged proper medical care with dignity, etc.

You get the idea that Medicare pays for everything.

Under Medicare the patient pays for the first $40 of the hospital bill for each "spell of illness."

He pays all hospital charges after 90 days. He pays all psychiatric charges after the 180 day life-time total.

He pays for the first three pints of blood.

He pays for private duty nurses. He pays for the doctor's bill. He pays for the cost of a private room unless certified as medically indicated. He pays for services provided for any "spell of illness" which is not certified as medically necessary.

Under the home health services he pays for all drugs.

Have you noticed the Murray State University signs at the corners of the campus are back up. They used to say Murray State College and were removed several weeks ago for the change. They are made of marble or stone or something and sit in the brickwork.

Folks out combining as fast as they can. They literally are having to make hay while the sun shines. Noticed a fellow out yesterday combining a field. This was one of those situations where the ox was in the ditch.

Chester Martin had an attack this morning as he was near the Bank of Murray.

"Experience teaches us to be most on our guard to protect liberty when the government's purposes are beneficent." U. S. Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis.

This month's Southern Bell Telephone News carries a story about Paducah.

Tom Brewer, Marvin Orgill, the Land Between the Lakes all come in for discussion in the article with pictures.

While we are on telephones, it would be nice to pick up the phone sometime and hear someone say "number please."

There is a French saying: "Freedom is nothing in the world but the opportunity for self-discipline."

Self-discipline of course is the most difficult.

People who have little self-discipline have a crutch to fall back on, rationalization. They kid themselves into thinking they have it, or they justify their deviation from it.

NOW YOU KNOW

The earliest known references to sea-going vessels, propelled by oars and sails, date back to at least 2,545 B.C., according to the Guinness Book of Records.

TAN SON NHUT, VIETNAM (AVN BDE 10) — Captain Robert S. Young (left) is shown here discussing his future plans with Captain James B. Byrnes, Aide-de-Camp for Brigadier General G. P. Seneff, after their recent promotion. Both are assigned to Headquarters, 1st Aviation Brigade which has command of all non-divisional aviation units in Vietnam.

Captain Young is now on approximately 50 days of temporary duty in New Zealand with the New Zealand Army in connection with the aerial scout platoons that the New Zealand Army is forming. Captain Young will advise them on pilot techniques, tactical and non-tactical operations, as well as helping them organize the scout platoons.

At 5 feet 4 1/2 inches, Captain Young may well be one of the shortest pilots in the Army, but he is not short on experience. He has flown many hours in Korea, Fort Benning, Georgia and Vietnam as a member of an aerial scout platoon.

After his tour of temporary duty in New Zealand, Captain Young will proceed home to Murray, Kentucky, for some well earned leave, and then to Fort Knox for his next duty assignment.

Kiwanis Club Hears Talk On Shooting

The weekly dinner meeting of the Murray Kiwanis Club was held at the Women's Club House. Two guests were in attendance, Robert "Bob" Smith, a Kiwanian from Evansville, who is a frequent visitor to this city and Prof. Robert Daniel, who is a member of the biology department at Murray State and who served as featured speaker for the evening.

The speaker entertained the Club with a talk on "Guns." Prof. Daniel has more than amateur's interests in such weapons, as he has a license to buy, sell and rebuild guns. In his informative discussion, the speaker noted that there are three general categories of shooters: the plinker, the hunter and the target-shooter, of course, many people combine the three. Mr. Daniel's interests were in target shooting and his talk mainly concerned this field.

It was noted that there are many varieties of guns available for target shooting but generally they fall into commercial types and those custom made, the latter usually being converted from military weapons. A point of interest that provoked a great amount of discussion was the disclosure that there are many variables in precision shooting, especially as it concerns the composition of the shell. The innumerable combination of powder, primer, cartridge and bullet in making the shell can cause great inconsistency in shooting accuracy.

Also, each particular gun has a specific composition of shell best suited for that gun's characteristics; and therefore it is necessary in precision shooting that the shooter select the proper shell for the gun. Commercially made shells show great inconsistency for precision and championship target shooting therefore such participants pack their own cartridges.

Prof. Daniel, who believes that shooting is a sport to be enjoyed by all, emphasized that a person must give the utmost respect to his weapon as it is "not the gun that kills, but the person." Many shooting accidents can be attributed to the fact that the individual has never learned the "danger" in his weapon. Children especially copy their parents and when a father uses a B-B gun as a top in shooting birds and targets, the offspring, who later sees a more "dangerous" weapon, is unable to distinguish one from the other, he said.

A Bible Thought For Today

Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whosoever ye shall ask the Father in my name, he will give it you. —John 17:23.

Through the ages some people have looked upon this passage of scripture as though it contained the formula for Christian magic. What this passage means is that everything that we ask for in the Spirit of Jesus will be answered.

Oldest Skull Dug Up By American Group In Egypt

By MAURICE GUINDI

CAIRO 27 — An American expedition has unearthed part of the skull of a human who lived about 13,000 years ago in southern Egypt.

Dr. Charles A. Reed, director of the Yale University Prehistoric Expedition to Nubia, said he believed this was the oldest human remains ever discovered in Egypt.

The frontal bone was found by expedition member Dr. Martin Baumhoff of the University of California in 1963 near Kom Ombo, the resettlement area for nearly 50,000 Nubians whose ancestral land will be flooded by the backwaters of the Aswan High Dam.

The find represents part of the forehead with the complete upper curve of the right eye socket and much of the upper curve of the left eye socket. Reed said the thick bone and heavy ridges indicated it belonged to "a very rugged male."

The bone and a few associated fragments were the only human remains found by the 10-member expedition, sponsored by Yale University's Peabody Museum of Natural History, in about 13 months of field work spread over three winter seasons. But the group has discovered hundreds of tons of stone and animal bone tools dating back 60,000 to 70,000 years.

The expedition has completed its field work, which cost about 165,000 dollars, Reed said. It has brought back to Cairo only about five tons of the more interesting finds. A U.A.R. committee of experts has decided which are to remain here and which are to be taken home by the expedition.

Started in Egypt, the expedition first came to Egypt in September 1962 under the UNESCO program for saving Nubian antiquities.

After working the Kom Ombo area, it scoured the eastern bank of the Nile from the Sudanese border to the High Dam and also part of the western bank in central Nubia. It purchased a houseboat which served as a floating laboratory and dormitory for expedition members. The boat, named "Hathor" after an ancient Egyptian goddess, was given to the U.A.R. Antiquities Department after the group completed its work.

Reed said the expedition was concerned almost entirely with Paleolithic (old stone age) relics. The finds included crudely chipped stone handaxes believed to be 90,000 or 70,000 years old, more refined blades and scrapers reflecting progress in craftsmanship and culture, and 15,000-year-old "microliths" which are very small stone tools in geometric shapes believed to have been used together in groups to make composite tools.

In a small valley leading down to the Nile from the Red Sea hills, Dr. Reed said the expedition found about 20 "fish spears" made of animal bone in a deposit accumulated where people had probably camped to fish. One of the spears was nearly intact and it represented a 15-centimeter-long slightly curved bone tool with one edge barbed for effective holding of a speared fish.

The spears, Reed said, were the first discovery of the kind in Nubia. He said it was difficult to date them at present but the likeliest guess was 6,000 to 8,000 years ago. The expedition found no traces of prehistoric houses, Reed said, and the older objects discovered were all on or near the surface. He attributed this to erosion and said the absence of stratified layers made the determination of age difficult.

TV RESOLUTION SHELVED

WASHINGTON 27 — The House is not going to follow the Senate's lead and televise its committee hearings at least not now.

The House Rules Committee Thursday postponed resolutions to change House rules to permit such broadcasts. But members said the question could be reconsidered at the start of the next Congress.

TRACKING THE SURVEYOR—These are the three tracking stations for the Surveyor soft landing on the Moon. Goldstone is the largest, with a 210-foot antenna. Canberra and Johannesburg have 85-footers. Senator John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, a member of the Ethics Committee, confers with other members during the Dodd hearings in Washington. The Ethics Committee was established after Senator Cooper disavowed with the handling of the Bobby Baker investigation, and proposed that the Senate set up the Ethics Committee to investigate future cases. With Senator Cooper, from left to right, are Senator Wallace Bennett of Utah, Senator John Stennis of Mississippi, and Senator James B. Pearson of Kansas.

Some Helpful Hints On Buying Carpets

By MARGERY McELHENY
United Press International
CHICAGO 375 — Carpet buying represents a large investment for the homemaker. Interior designer Richard Himmel, who has planned commercial installations for hotels, offices and resorts as well as private customers, says there are five points to keep in mind, no matter how much of the budget is allotted to carpet purchases.

—Look for cleanliness. Even if your choice is white, the new luxury look, there's a carpet fiber that will make it practical.

—Look for wearability. From a handful of clawing kittens to a clutch of small boys, the average household needs carpeting that can really "take it."

—Look for vibrant, brilliant, sharp and clear color. No longer need you settle for the muddy look in carpets just because they are something to walk on. Plan your total color scheme from the floor up.

—Look for luxury in a feeling of bulk and a beautiful surface.

—Look for economy. Reasonable price does not mean cheapness. All the qualities of good cleaning long wear, true color and luxury can be obtained in various price ranges.

Himmel, who designed four model rooms for United States Rubber during the recent International Home Furnishings Show here, suggested these adaptations for homes and apartments:

For a boy's room, start with a nautical theme of red, white and blue. If the home is being built, plan a pit-type room, where the step down can serve as seating and counter.

Most children prefer to sit on the floor anyway, and the pit arrangement provides seating space and eliminates a lot of chairs, Himmel said.

Carpet Colors
Define the areas with different colors of carpet... royal blue on the upper level, light blue on the step, scarlet in the center section.

Finish off the scheme with ship-like built-ins such as fishnet curtains over blue, and add white accents.

In an efficiency apartment, define the areas of living, dining and sleeping with carpets of different but related colors of beige, mocha and chocolate brown.

In the living area, run the carpet up one wall for a delightfully fresh and interestingly textured background for paintings or other wall decorations, Himmel said.

This technique also has acoustical properties.

In a feminine bedroom, dramatize soft, pale pink painted paneling and fabrics with glowing lime

The Bride Entertains Her Family And Friends

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

SEASONED homemakers will remember with rueful grins their early struggles with the hostess role. It's not an easy one to assume, as you now find out as you discover. Too much is at stake!

Eager to show off your husband, your new household possessions and your cooking, you are apt to be as harried as a hostess can be.

No Consolation
Practice, of course, perfects the part, but this is small consolation when you are getting ready to entertain your friends or your in-laws for the first time.

Old hands can offer some sage advice that will see you through a dinner party with a minimum of jitters. It can be summed up in one short sentence:

Keep it simple!
The advice is particularly applicable to the menu.

No Experiments, Please
Don't be tempted into TRYING an exotic but intricate main dish. Stick with something that's tried and true and easy to make, like a good cut of roast beef. Never experiment on guests!

If you like, spark the vegetables with a novel touch. Nothing is simpler than mixing sliced almonds with the string beans for an "aman-dine" dish or adding color to the potatoes with a sprinkling of paprika. Neither dish takes time, but both make an impression.

Grand Finale
A homemade dessert is the grand finale to your meal. Bake your favorite cake or pie or, if this isn't your forte, prepare a parfait. Nothing tastes better, looks more elegant or is easier.

Just alternate layers of vanilla ice cream with layers of defrosted frozen strawberries or peaches in a sherbet or parfait glass.

HER IN-LAWS are coming to dinner and the bride makes a great impression by setting the table with beautiful new china and silver. Daisies make the delightful centerpiece.

Make another smash impression with your table setting. Keep it formal for your in-laws, who will be happier china, your best silver, crystal and cloth.

And do think up a pretty centerpiece. It can be as simple as a bouquet of daisies. Also elegant—but easy!—is a silver bowl filled with water on which you can float flowers.

Hints To Heed
Keep the following hints for social success in mind as you prepare for your debut as a hostess:

1. Write out the menu, checking off each thing as it is done.
2. Prepare as much of the meal as you can ahead of time.
3. Complete your housecleaning the day before your party so you'll be free to concentrate on your dinner.
4. Allow yourself a good two hours to rest and get dressed before guests arrive.
5. Have the table set before the doorbell rings.
6. At the dinner table, be a good listener. Don't interrupt conversation to pass second helpings. Wait for a lull. Anticipate Needs.
7. Try to be aware of and anticipate the needs of your guests.
8. If you're doing your own dishes, clear the table unobtrusively and let the dishes go until your company leaves.
9. Once you've done everything you can possibly do to make the party a success, relax and enjoy it. Remember that next time around it will be easier.

FLOWERS AFLOAT in a silver Paul Revere bowl spark an informal buffet table set for friends. Stainless flatware has a tracery of leaves against a textured background.

green carpet.
In a contemporary living room, consider lush, white carpeting if you have a flair for the unusual. Free-form inserts of canary yellow, gold and orange set off conversation areas and point up the understated elegance of clean-lined contemporary furniture.

Screening Helps To Sell Houses

NEW YORK 375 — What the prospective home buyer sees at the front door can help smooth the way to a quicker sale, according to an authority on selling existing homes.

One of the first things noted by realtors when they inspect a property is whether it has aluminum combination screen-and-storm door and combination windows all around the house, says Joseph Klock, president of the Piqueering Corporation of Philadelphia.

"Quality combination screen-and-storm doors and windows add more to the saleability of a house than any other home improvement of equal cost," says Klock, whose firm sold more than $8 million worth of existing homes last year.

"Home buyers today no longer look upon combination screen-and-storm doors and windows as a luxury or an extra, but consider them a necessity."

What changes a home improvement from an "extra" to a "necessity?"

The Insect Wire Screening Bureau puts it this way:

"Homeowners want reduced heat bills and a barrier against insects. Quality self-storing combinations not only do those jobs effectively, but have satisfied widespread demand for easy operation and years of trouble-free service."

"Long life features of well-built combinations make them as serviceable to the next owner of the house as the day they were installed. And there are no burdensome maintenance chores for the homeowner."

GA. Calf Crop

ATHENS, Ga. 375 — The state crop reporting service estimated the 1964 Georgia calf crop at 64,000 head. This was an increase of 21,000 head over 1963 and was eight per cent above the 1958-62 average of 507,000 head.

STORAGE PROBLEMS?

NEW YORK 375 — When buying or building a home takes a long look at the present and future needs of your family for storage space and recreation facilities. There are many factors to consider in deciding between a slab foundation or a basement. If your family is still growing, a basement may prove much more valuable. If you decide you want a basement, surface the floors and walls with a colorful and durable material such as ceramic tile.

'Stymied' Reader Causes Controversy

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You have had the good grace to admit that there is a problem which even you can't solve. I refer to the letter from "STYMIED," who asks how provident parents can guard against orphaning their children and leaving them to the care of strangers. No, I have not solved the problem, but I have considered it.

SYNONYMOUS! Here's the idea: Thus you, or an organization you inspire, parents of similar backgrounds and means are teamed up. Each agrees to adopt the children of the other family in the event of the death of both parents of that other family. For example, your organization (using computers) would possibly match the "STYMIED" family with MY family. My three children, too, have had their education provided for thru the age of 21. The same system as some adoption agencies use in matching color, race, and religion could be applied here.

Death of parents is a traumatic experience, and the orphaned children will be most likely to "revert" in an environment to which they are accustomed—one which change their lives the least.

"VISIONARY" IN MPLS.

DEAR ABBY: Why should anybody be stymied about making provisions for their children in case of death? There are church and fraternal organizations galore that specialize in caring for orphaned children. The Legal Order of Moose, Masons, The Veterans Order of Foresters, and Odd Fellows to name a few. Even insurance companies have fine protective programs to cover such eventualities. I thought everyone knew that.

NOT STYMIED.

DEAR ABBY: "STYMIED" states that her only living blood relative is incapable of rearing healthy, normal, well-adjusted children. Yet she herself goes on to say that she is afraid to even get into an automobile with her husband for fear they will both be killed and their children orphaned. I wonder if SHE thinks SHE'S "normal and is well-adjusted?"

CONFUSED

DEAR ABBY: We were a family of nine when our parents died and do you think for one minute that when death took our mother, father, a sister and a brother all within three months we distanced? We did not! We stayed together and took care of each other and we made out just fine.

And so will other families who are taught to love and look after one another. That's what our parents instilled in us when we were kids, and even after they died, they "lived" in all of us. Trust in God—His eye is on the sparrow.

FULL OF FAITH

DEAR ABBY: It is a good idea for parents to "make a will and make their desires known with regard to whom should assume the guardianship of their minor children in case both parents should suddenly go. This of course is a job for a competent lawyer. The main thing is to get it down in black and white and place it in the hands of a trustee, attorney, or someone who can put the provisions into effect immediately. A will which has been hidden in a coffee can and buried out in the back yard seldom does anybody any good.

May I suggest an organization to be known as "PARENTS RE-THINKERS?"

DEAR ABBY: Somebody ought to tell STYMIED that the odds against her getting killed in a car with her husband are extremely high. I read recently that even with the present high death rate on highways, the average man who does an average amount of driving would have to drive for 800 years before he would become a statistic.

And I assume the chances for his wife being killed with him would be doubly remote. Life is a risk. All that is assured us on this earth is the love of God.

For the Wedding Reception A Budget Buffet That's Elegant

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

If you can't afford a big wedding have a small one, with the reception at home.

For an output of about $15, you can serve 12 an elegant buffet luncheon of Baked Chicken Breasts ($3.54); Mock Wild Rice ($1.39); Broccoli Spears ($1.10) with Hollandaise Sauce ($1.34); Strawberry Sweetheart Salad ($1.76).

The balance of the $15 goes for 2 dozen dinner rolls, butter, a relish tray of celery, carrots, olives, coffee and cream.

The prices given are approximate as they'll vary in different neighborhoods. The only extra expense is the wedding cake.

Here are the recipes.

BAKED CHICKEN BREASTS

6 whole chicken breasts, split
Salt
Pepper
Poultry seasoning
1 1/2 lbs. fresh mushrooms, sliced lengthwise through caps and stems
1 c. sherry wine
6 tbsp. butter or margarine

Wash, dry chicken breasts; sprinkle both sides with salt, pepper, poultry seasoning. Tear off 3 (18" x 26") sheets of heavy duty aluminum foil; arrange 4 chicken breasts, skin side up, in center of each sheet.

Place mushrooms over chicken; pour on wine; dot with butter.

Close packages, using tight double folds over top and on ends.

Freeze.

When ready to serve, place frozen packages in shallow baking pan; bake 1 1/2 hr. at 400° F., or until done.

To serve, spoon juices over breasts and Mock Wild Rice.

Serves 12.
Note: If chicken breasts are not to be frozen, bake 1 1/2 hours at 400° F.

MOCK WILD RICE

1 1/2 c. regular rice, raw

6 tbsp. butter or margarine

3 c. hot water

4 chicken bouillon cubes

1/2 tsp. salt

LOVEBIRDS DECK table for an elegant at-home wedding reception. Buffet for 12, including chicken baked in heavy duty foil, excluding the wedding cake, costs about $15.

1 c. walnuts, finely chopped

2 (4 oz.) cans mushrooms, finely chopped

1/2 tsp. basil

In 2-qt. saucepan, cook rice in butter until well browned (about 15 min.), stirring frequently.

Combine hot water, bouillon cubes, salt; slowly add to rice, stirring constantly.

Cover; cook over low heat 30 min. or until all liquid is absorbed and rice is dry and fluffy.

Add nuts, mushrooms and basil; heat additional 5 min.

Makes 12 small portions. Double recipe (and cool of making it) to allow for seconds.

STRAWBERRY SWEETHEART SALAD

2 (3 oz.) pkg. cream cheese

1 c. mayonnaise

1/4 tsp. red food coloring

1 lb. marshmallows, cut fine

1 (1 lb.) pkg. frozen strawberries, thawed, drained

1 flat can (1 c.) crushed pineapple, drained

1 envelope whipped topping mix

Beat cream cheese to soft; add mayonnaise, food coloring; blend well.

Add marshmallows, strawberries, pears, pineapple; blend well.

Prepare whipped topping according to pkg. directions; fold into strawberry mixture.

Pour into lightly greased 1 1/2 qt. mold; chill until firm. Unmold on bed of lettuce; garnish with sprigs of fresh mint.

Makes 12 small servings.

EASY HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

8 egg yolks

1 tsp. salt

Dash cayenne pepper

2 c. (1 lb.) melted butter or margarine

1/2 c. fresh, frozen or canned lemon juice

Beat egg yolks until thick; lemon-colored; add salt, cayenne.

Very slowly, add 1 c. melted butter, beating constantly.

Combine remaining 1 c. melted butter and lemon juice; add slowly to yolk mixture, beating constantly.

Serve immediately over 4 (10 oz.) pkg. frozen cooked broccoli spears.

Makes 2 1/2 c. (12 servings).

TO MAKE LOVEBIRDS: Center custard cup on 30-in. sheet of foil. Crush foil around cup. Insert foam ball in excess foil to make head. Flatten foil at other side for bird's tail.

IRISH PROTEST

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—More than 3,000 Northern Irish Protestants marched through downtown Belfast Thursday in a "reformation rally" led by the Rev. Ian Paisley, self-styled head of the Free Presbyterian Church in Northern Ireland and an extreme opponent of conciliation between Protestants and the Roman Catholic Church.

Take it easy this summer. Add a cooling note to your warm weather menu with this Cottage Cheese Asparagus Mousse. It tastes as good as it looks and it's easy to make.

Add Cool Touch to Summer with

Molded Salad

Molded salads always add a cool touch to summer parties. They're as cool and pleasing to the eye as they are refreshing to the taste. A Cottage Cheese Asparagus Mousse is attractive and tasty and easy to make. No woman should ever be afraid of a mousse. It's simple to make this particular salad with its delicate flavor. Pale green and cool in appearance, this mousse uses both the asparagus and its liquid to produce the true flavor of this colorful vegetable. Enough lemon juice is added to give an appetizing tang and a touch of mustard highlights the asparagus flavor. Either canned or frozen asparagus can be used in this liquid. Sprinkle gelatin over Cottage Cheese Asparagus Mousse. If frozen is used, cook give 1 cup; heat to boiling, then stir in softened gelatin until dissolved. Chill until even on a hot day. Creamy smooth, it blends beautifully with asparagus. For texture contrast, add chopped or shaved almonds to the velvety salad. Serve Cottage Cheese Asparagus Mousse with buttered, broiled lobster tails, grilled fish or broiled chicken. Make this masterpiece in salads ahead of time and take it easy.

Chicago Skyscraper Has Unique Design

CHICAGO (AP)—A striking departure from the typical glass-box approach to new office buildings is the unique $60 million-plus skyscraper planned by the First National Bank of Chicago.

The 60-story building — which will rise in a sweeping curve to a height of approximately 800 feet above the heart of the Chicago Loop — is based on a concept similar to the Empire State Building. The structure will taper upward from a 55,000-square foot base to a 29,000-square foot tower. It is scheduled for completion in 1968.

The project is part of a vast redevelopment program that is changing the face of Chicago's central business district. Other structures involved include the Inland Steel building, the Civic Center, the new Federal office complex.

"We are determined to provide a sound economic base for the Loop's future as well as the most effective facilities for the bank, not only to serve as an anchor for existing institutions, but to provide a stimulant for new business activity," said Homer J. Livingston, board chairman of the bank.

"A strong downtown economy is both essential to Chicago's growth and irrevocably tied to the bank's expansion."

"The tapering design was selected as the best way to provide a building to serve both as headquarters for the country's tenth largest commercial bank and a major office building," said Christopher W. Wilson, executive vice president and chairman of the bank's building committee.

The lower floors will provide the open space required for the First National's savings department and other customer service facilities. Present plans call for the bank to occupy the lower half of the building, with the remaining space to be available for rental.

The new structure will be erected on land that was occupied by the 46-story Morrison Hotel, the 17-story Hamilton Hotel and the 15-story old Hartford building. The remainder of the block is occupied by the present First National Bank building.

The Morrison until 1962 held the title as the tallest hotel in the world. It was well known for its restaurants and was the scene of much of the city's history.

Handling the demolition was the Harvey Wrecking Company of Chicago. The major problems involved in the demolition was the extreme height of the Morrison tower and the careful scheduling required to remove the mountain of debris without upsetting normal Loop pedestrian and vehicular traffic.

JOELSON SHOCKED

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Charles S. Joelson, D-N.J., is shocked. The souvenir replicas of the U.S. Marines raising the flag at Iwo Jima, sold at the Iwo Jima memorial here, are made in Japan.

"I appreciate the fact that the Japanese today are valued allies," Joelson said Wednesday. "However, I question the taste and poor judgment in having souvenirs sold at the Iwo Jima memorial made in the country which was our foe when the bloody battle of Iwo Jima was waged."

"It's just not fitting."

TRUNDLE BED saves space in boy's room with clever window dressing. A wide jute border trims shades and makes valance and tasseled-trimmed banners that hide woodwork.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

IDEALLY speaking, every child should have his own room. But in this day of small homes and smaller apartments, the ideal arrangement is not always possible. Decorating becomes a challenge when children have to double up and share a room, but it's a challenge that can be met successfully. There are several ways to tackle it.

Best Bet

If space permits, twin beds are the best bet. You get your money's worth out of this investment as children grow into them rather than out of them.

If every inch counts, however, youth beds, which are not as wide or as long, will serve you for several years until larger twin-size beds become a necessity.

Double-Decker Idea

Double-decker bunk beds also save space but have two disadvantages. They look large and appear bulky and they are NOT easy to make. Weigh this against the fact that they are two beds that take up the space of one and you may decide in their favor.

Still another suggestion is to build your own beds. The base can be equipped with storage cabinets or drawers. Top the storage units with a foam rubber mattress and you create sleeping space.

The trundle bed, too, offers another good out.

In furnishing children's rooms allow equal space for blouses together, you may be able to create space under them for a 24-inch wide metal chest for underwear, socks and other accessories, leaving bureau free for bulkier garments.

Utilize walls by putting up shelves, hooks and bulletin boards.

Under The Bed Invest in under-bed storage units. Available at notions counters, they are plastic, look like flat suitcases and have handles so you can yank them out from under.
